

Information, Communications and Technology Workshops

The Eastern Region Infrastructure Network (ERIN) through its Big Lottery funded project FERI (Front Line Engagement through Infrastructure) are offering rural voluntary and community groups FREE training workshops on ICT.

Each of the workshops on offer is designed to enable and empower VCS organisations in the eastern region to make better use of ICT and improve efficiency and the ability to engage with service users, funders and stakeholders, volunteers, etc., more effectively.

16th June 2010: The Benefits of ICT (10am start)

Information Communication Technology - ICT - has an increasingly important role to play in life, particularly in a work environment. This workshop explores why ICT is important and the benefits that it can bring.

9th September 2010: Social Media (10am start)

Looks at the rise of WEB2.0/Social Media/New Media technologies and applications and how these can be used to assist the VCS in its work particularly in campaigning and raising awareness, but also as additional tools to help it work SMARTER not harder.

Each of the workshops are limited to 20 places on each workshop so please book early to avoid disappointment.

Aim:

Each workshop will provide you with an opportunity;

- to gain ICT information relevant to your community group
- to share ideas
- network

Duration: Each workshop will be a session of approximately 2 to 3 hours.

Venue: CDA for Herts, Birchwood Avenue, Hatfield, Herts. AL10 0PS
